Fall Is Here!

We hope you've been enjoying this cooler weather! Fall is here, which means your children may wear Ragin' Cajuns shirts on Friday to support UL! If you haven't already, please tune in for our virtual open house. On Friday afternoon, you should have received a call from LPPS. Our schools will be staying in Phase 2 until at least Nov. 6. Please visit here for details.

Woodvale has achieved Lighthouse Certification as a Leader in Me School, which is a highly regarded standard set by Franklin Covey. Each week we will share our 7 Habits of Highly Effective People! See page 3 for details! Thank you, Ms. Vidos

VOLUNTEER

Habit 1: Be Proactive

Habit 1 reminds us that WE are in charge. It means that we are responsible, we choose our actions, attitudes and moods. We don't blame others for our wrong actions and we do the right thing without being asked, even when no one is looking.

Proactive people stop and think about the right thing to do before they make choices. We can use the following model to help us be proactive:

STOP: Stop to cool down (count to 10, take a deep breath, etc.)

THINK: Think about the different choices you have, and choose the best one

GO: Act on your proactive choice

Go over different scenarios where you would have the opportunity to use this proactive model. For example: In class, one of your classmates grabbed your crayons in front of you without asking. What are your choices? What would be a proactive response?

At home, your mom yelled at you for screaming when in fact it was your brother. What are your choices? What would be a proactive response?

At recess, you witnessed an unfair call in 4 Square. The students were trying to get someone out on purpose, and they told you that they would be mad at you if you told a teacher. What are your choices? What would be a proactive response?
